

Please consider deregulating the cell phone companies in order that customers may keep their same phone number if they change carriers. This is really a hassle to be assigned a new number every time you switch a carrier. Cell phone companies should not be allowed to hold customers hostage just because there is a better package deal with another carrier. After all initially you have to sign at least a year's contract for the service agreement. Isn't that enough. So please pass the law which allows for the portability of cell phone numbers. thank you
